

UK Retail 2014

Sophos has recently undertaken research into the level of IT security at various retail outlets.

33%

said their business has been affected by credit card fraud.

WITH 14%

admitting this had happened in the past year.

34%

of retailers surveyed do not have anything in place to train their point-of-sale staff to recognise credit card fraud.

21%

of retail businesses are not confident that they have the right security in place to protect themselves and their customers from a social media compromise.

MORE THAN ONE THIRD

37%

have not taken extra steps to secure customer data.

12%

of businesses have experienced hacking in the last five years.

36%

believe the risk of credit card fraud will increase in the lead up to Christmas.

36%

do not have a plan in place to deal with customer credit fraud should it happen.

